

"The Little Green School That Could " is a video depicting how Northwestern Regional School #7 is getting on the train of going green. We are constantly adding cars to the train of going green from recycling, solar, wind, etc. As we become more green we will continue chugging up the hill and we will make it to the top with all of the efforts that students and faculty are making towards this cause.